

WORKING THROUGH BREAST CANCER

A SURVEY OF OVER 1,000 WOMEN WITH BREAST CANCER* WHO HAVE WORKED OR LOOKED FOR WORK SINCE DIAGNOSIS (INCLUDING 189 WITH METASTATIC DISEASE) REVEALED:

77% OF WORKING WOMEN WITH BREAST CANCER FEEL THAT WORKING AIDS IN THEIR RECOVERY

56% OF WOMEN SURVEYED PREFER TO WORK GIVEN THEIR CURRENT HEALTH SITUATION. ASIDE FROM INCOME (59%), HERE ARE THE TOP REASONS WHY: **

WORK MAKES ME FEEL PRODUCTIVE:

41%

WORK IS PERSONALLY FULFILLING:

38%

I WANT THINGS TO FEEL AS NORMAL AS POSSIBLE:

29%

WORKING WOMEN WITH METASTATIC BREAST CANCER

WERE NEARLY
2X

AS LIKELY AS THOSE WITH EARLY-STAGE BREAST CANCER TO CITE THE DESIRE TO FEEL NORMAL AS A REASON FOR WANTING TO WORK

*The survey was commissioned by Pfizer and Cancer and Careers, and conducted online by Harris Poll from June 9 - 23, 2014. Study sample: 1,002 female breast cancer patients and survivors 18+ who have worked or looked for work since diagnosis (189 of these were metastatic breast cancer patients)

** Respondents were asked to select up to three responses out of a total of nine options